Peachy, tart, and citrusy. Sex on the Beach cocktail is the perfect drink to wind down with after a long day.

BLUE HAWAIIAN

8.49

It was in Honolulu, at Waikiki's shore in the Hawaiian Village Hotel, that head bartender Harry Yee was credited with first mixing up the Day-Glo drink that offered a taste of the tropics. Vodka, pineapple juice, Blue Curaçao, sweet and sour mix and crushed ice.

LONG ISLAND ICED TEA

8.49

A cocktail that never seems to go out of style. The potent concoction of rum, tequila, vodka, gin and triple sec finished with a mixture of sweet and sour, cola and lemon juice. Tea isn't actually an addition to the drink, but the ingredients used predominantly the cola, provide the profile of tea with much more flavour.

PINA COLADA

8.49

Dream of warm white beaches, laying in a hammock and sipping on this island drink. One of the most famous beach drinks piña colada - pineapple, Bacardi, coconut 3 simple ingredients that blended with ice will have you feeling the sun on your face dreaming away.

FROZEN APEROL SPRITZ

8.49

Have you tried a Fraperol Spritz yet?

We highly recommend that you do even if only to give yourself the opportunity to say that fun word a few times in conversation! The frozen version of the iconic Aperol Spritz also happens to be a full on delightful. Aperol, orange juice, lemon juice, strawberry syrup, Prosecco, blended ice, Garnish with orange slices, and serve!

AMARETTO SOUR

8.49

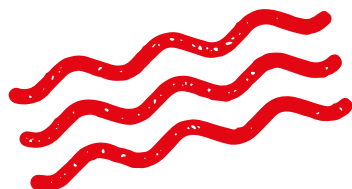

To improve the classic Amaretto Sour, Portland, Oregon, bartender Jeffrey Morgenthaler uses fresh lemon juice and high-proof bourbon to round out the cocktail, plus egg white for a dash of body and a silky texture. Egg white may seem unusual, but it's a traditional addition to many sours.
